

Research Reading Notes

Demo learning resource for the Resources section

How to use this template

Use one copy for each paper, chapter, or course reading. It is intentionally brief so that the important ideas, identification strategy, and questions can be reviewed quickly before a seminar or discussion.

Citation	Author(s), year, title, venue, and stable link
Research question	What specific question does this work answer?
Data and method	Dataset, sample, empirical design, and identifying assumptions
Core finding	State the result in one or two precise sentences
Why it matters	Connection to theory, policy, or your current research
Open questions	Limitations, extensions, and points to raise in discussion

Replace this demonstration file with your own reading notes, slides, datasets, or course materials when publishing the site.
